

Money Sense Curriculum Updates

This summer, our team spent time updating the curriculum for our Money Sense lessons in order to make the content more relevant to our students. Please see below for a review of some of the changes made. We encourage you to review the Prezis, Instructor Notes, and Student Workbooks to familiarize yourself with these changes. As always, please reach out to us with any questions!

Bank Your Future Updates

- Updated videos
- Updated numbers for colleges, salaries, etc.

The changes in Bank Your Future were made to reflect updated data on costs and salaries, other ways students may choose to track their expenses, and to provide more relevant examples to students.

Check It Out Updates

- Updated videos and graphics
- Choosing a Financial Institution updates
- New Direct Deposit Authorization Form activity
- Trivia and knowledge check questions

The changes in Check It Out were made so the lesson was more engaging and interactive for students. A few activities were slightly modified to encourage discussion with the group. Some slides were changed to be less text-heavy and visually appealing.

To Your Credit Updates

- Updated videos and graphics
- Trivia questions and knowledge checks
- Updated interest rates

The changes in To Your Credit were made to be more engaging for students. Some slides were changed to be less text-heavy and visually appealing.
